```
1 pragma solidity ^0.5.16;
                                                        1 pragma solidity ^0.5.16;
3 import "./CToken.sol";
                                                        3 import "./CToken.sol";
4
5 contract PriceOracle {
                                                        5 contract PriceOracle {
     /// @notice Indicator that this is a PriceOracle
                                                            /// @notice Indicator that this is a PriceOracle
  contract (for inspection)
                                                          contract (for inspection)
      bool public constant isPriceOracle = true;
                                                             bool public constant isPriceOracle = true;
8
                                                        8
9
                                                        9
                                                        * @notice Update the price of an underlying as set * @param cToken The cToken to update the under lying price of 12 */
                                                        function updatePrice(CToken cToken) external;
                                                       15 /
      * @notice Get the underlying price of a cToken
                                                        * @notice Get the underlying price of a cToken
                                                         asset
  asset
    * @param cToken The cToken to get the underlyi
                                                       * @param cToken The cToken to get the underlyi
11
   ng price of ng price of 12
    * @return The underlying asset price mantissa
                                                       * @return The underlying asset price mantissa
    (scaled by 1e18).
                                                           (scaled by 1e18).
        * Zero means the price is unavailable.
                                                                * Zero means the price is unavailable.
13
                                                       19
14
                                                       20
                                                                */
     function getUnderlyingPrice(CToken cToken) exter
                                                             function getUnderlyingPrice(CToken cToken) exter nal view returns (uint);
                                                         nal view returns (uint);
                                                       22 }
16 }
                                                       23
17
```